Column One By David Courtney

WHEN all is said and done the U.N. Organization is still the one good hope of mankind. It has met six times in General Assembly and will meet today for the seventh; and the surprising thing is that dark and pale, Communist and Capitalist, empire and colony, still against their worse judgment, have considerable respect for it and some faith in its values. The U.N. ideal is much further off after seven years than most of us imagined it would be, said Sir Gladwyn Jebb, the United Kingdom's permanent delegate, who gave that as a reason why NATO, EDC, and a thoroughgoing rearmament programme were necessary. There is nothing to suggest that NATO and its breed of subsidiary treaties and alliances have brought us much closer to our ideal; or, indeed, that they are working much better towards whatever goal may have been substituted for the U.N. ideal.

THE realistic, the impatient, and the irresponsible, are apt to think that U.N. is a woolly-headed nuisance, obstructing the way to the ordered settlement of world affairs. Without it, this or that frontier could be rectified and no nonsense; without it, a little essay in "preventive" or "positive" war could be conducted and Asia away with before the rest of the world knew what had happened; without it, peace-mongering busybodies could be told to mind their own business; and without it a nation's armor proper could be decently and robustly identified in short, without it we could get back to the good old days when tedious negotiations were put in their place and had no cowardly recourse to such namby-pamby organizations as the Security Council or the General Assembly.

SOME of these self-same realists are of opinion that U.N. can be no good as long as it admits Soviet Russia and runs the risk of having to admit Communist China; and have therefore started a campaign to build up NATO into an Atlantic Federation, or Union, which would conduct the affairs of the non-Communist world and leave Russia, China and those of the people's democracies that had not by that time "cast off their yoke," to stew in their own sweat and juice. This is the kind of realism that consists of a kind of distorted romanticism. It pretends that NATO armaments can be fitted with vision instead of range-finders. Luckily the NATO governments — and the Communist governments for that matter, do not really believe that the two halves of the world can separately get along any better than they can get along together. U.N. as a world body, for all its aggravations, is not merely desirable to each half but essential to both.

WHATEVER the rights or wrongs of Korea, that war would have fired the U.N. Manchurian bloodshed, the charged half Asia by now if it had not been for U.N. Although Germany has been the business of the Big Powers, behind the scenes has been the open forum of U.N. and the uncertain attitude of many states. If U.N. had been to the aid of an elaborate platform for Communist nations to let off steam about Capitalist nations and Communist nations about Communist nations, for subject peoples to arraign their masters and their masters to explain themselves to a critical assembly, it would still have proved itself, exactly as a national parliament made up of conflicting parties can be said to have proved its use. And if account is taken of the work done by the many U.N. agencies, economic, cultural, technical and humanitarian, there is added proof of usefulness.

BUT the primary purpose of U.N. is to ensure peace and bring about the peaceful integration of the whole world. It has helped to prevent war but has not ensured peace. The reason lies not in the fact that U.N. has proved weaker than its ideals, but that the nations individually are not yet equal to the collective conception which keeps in danger of arms and of time of emergency. For that very reason U.N. is indispensable; without it the collective conception itself would disintegrate and the armed alliance would again become the first instrument in the affairs of men and nations. We need U.N. to remind us of the ideal it has not yet reached.

Turkey May Call Regional Talks In Mid-East

CAIRO, Monday. — Turkey will shortly propose to Egypt the organization of a Middle East regional defence conference, "Al Masi" reported today.

The paper said that only Middle Eastern countries will participate in the talks, which will leave them full freedom to explore the possibility of a regional defence plan on their own terms and conditions without the participation of the U.S., Britain and France.

To Choose Themselves
The Middle East states will also be at liberty to choose any "practical form of co-operation with the Western powers," and could "even decide in principle not to permit their respective armed forces to operate outside their frontiers," the paper said.

In London, meanwhile, authoritative sources told that British and U.S. ideas on Middle East defence have been "substantially reconciled," and together with France and Turkey, they are soon to propose a formal conference with the Arab states to promote their cooperation in the defence of the region.

British sources suggested that the Big Three plus Turkey, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa would establish a Middle East defence planning body in Cyprus without the inclusion of the Middle Eastern states did not meet with U.S. approval.

'Broad Charges'
Now that "broad charges" have been made in the Middle East, the administration of the Canal Zone, British and U.S. military advisers are agreed on their minimum common denominator to settle the Arab world has disappeared, the source added.

Despite some "up and down" in the Arab world, circumstances are more favorable than ever towards the planning of the organization in some places. The Canal Zone, British and U.S. military advisers are agreed on their minimum common denominator to settle the Arab world has disappeared, the source added.

Farouk May Face Trial for Treason

CAIRO, Monday (Reuters). — The newspaper "Al Akhbar" said today ex-King Farouk will be tried for high treason following a statement by his rival, Mohammed Hassan, that Farouk ordered the British army to intervene against General Nogi's coup three days before his abdication last July.

The newspaper also quoted the new regime's first Prime Minister, Ali Maher, as saying Farouk told him that the British were going to occupy Egypt to protect him.

"Al Akhbar" said Farouk will be tried under an article of the penal code which provides the death sentence for high treason.

All Modern Brotherhood political detainees except one, were released last night under a special amnesty law, an Egyptian Government spokesman announced.

The government yesterday ordered a 50 per cent cut in college tuition fees and prices of textbooks and other school supplies. Funds have also been allocated to provide free lunches for students.

The Government announced that Egyptian colleges were preparing to admit 10,000 new students this year compared with 7,500 in 1951.

Court Rejects Appeal to Release Lichtman

TEL AVIV, Monday (ETM). — Judge M. Kohn of the District Court today rejected an appeal against a Magistrate's Court decision last week to remand Gervil Lichtman, the Communist Party's secretary, together with Dor Shalinski in the attempted bombing of Hahira on October 8.

The police prosecutor, Mr. Y. Ben Ari, held that the charges against the accused were serious and that the complex investigation was still in progress.

Ein Harod Split Along Wadi

TEL AVIV, Monday. — While Mapam members walked out of the Agricultural Workers' Council tonight adopted a resolution that Ein Harod settlement be divided along the Wadi, with the northern, still unsettled portion, going to the Mapam minority, Mr. Aharon Zilbing, Mapam M.K. and member of Ein Harod, told THE POST that his party considered the decision void and not binding.

Mr. Haim Halperin, Director of the Agricultural Bank, who presided said the decision was lawful.

Mr. Avraham Harzfeld told the Council that many months ago he had proposed to start building the new village, but Hakhsheta Hameushad men, for whom the houses were meant, refused to co-operate. Division by a straight line across the present village, as suggested by Hakhsheta Hameushad spokesmen, was impracticable, Mr. Harzfeld said, because the two villages, one of Mapai tendencies and the other of Mapam leanings, would have been too close to one another at too many points, leaving room for constant friction.

Laughing Stock
"Ein Harod has already become the laughing stock of the whole country," he said.

Mr. Meir Cohen, Mapam, admitted that his followers could not consider leaving Ein Harod under any circumstances because the central organs of the Hakhsheta Hameushad movement were there; leaving them would weaken the movement considerably, he said.

IL-4.3m. Development Budget in Haifa

HAIFA, Monday. — An IL-4.3m. development budget for Haifa was proposed to the Municipal Council which convened here tonight, by Mayor Abba Khushy. The budget contained plans for enlarging schools, kindergartens, hospitalization, a temporary market for agricultural produce, and accommodation for small workshops outside the town to remove them from residential areas. Sewage and the widening of roads are also provided for.

Allocation of IL-100,000 is made for a rehabilitation home for polio-stricken children at which a U.S. Jew was willing to contribute IL-200,000.

10 Held for Smashing Houses Being Built in Rehovot

REHOVOT, Monday. — Five buildings in the early stage of construction were demolished by Histadrut members here today in a labour dispute between the workers and the Sela (Herut) Housing Company who were erecting the houses. No one was injured, and the Labour Council here stated that labour should be held only through the Histadrut. Called on the Herut workers to stop work and asked the contractor to hire his labour through the Exchange. A meeting between the local Labour Council and the National Federation was scheduled for last Friday, but did not take place because the Histadrut members refused to talk while the Herut labourers continued to work.

This morning a group of over 100 Histadrut members arrived at the building site in seven lorries and called on the Herut workers to leave the site. They refused, but the Histadrut members used force on the construction, recruited through the Labour Exchange, stopped work.

The arrivals then marched on the houses, three of which were half-way up to the ground-floor ceiling and two up to the first level of concrete. The Histadrut members said they would use force to stop the construction. The Histadrut members said they would use force to stop the construction.

The local Labour Exchange, which includes a Herut member, reportedly agreed unanimously to the Histadrut action.

act followed the receipt by the police of an anonymous letter in which the writer had said that though he objected to the reparations agreement with Germany he opposed the contemplated violent acts about which he was giving information.

JOSEPH ABRAHAMSON BOARD TO CONTINUE

All doctors who were members of the first Medical Advisory Board on Histadrut are to be invited by Dr. Dor Joseph, Minister of Commerce and Industry, to serve on the second Board which is to be appointed soon, a Ministry spokesman said in Jerusalem yesterday.

Mizrahi Leader Meets Ben Gurion On Cabinet

Prime Minister Ben Gurion is understood to have told Rabbi Mordecai Nurk, Mizrahi M.K., in Jerusalem yesterday that in consideration of the Mizrahi Party's past and its contribution to the building of the State, the Party, on whose behalf Rabbi Nurk is negotiating, had been included in the Cabinet.

The discussions are believed to have dealt with which of the two Mizrahi Knesset members would join the Cabinet. The party itself has as yet made no decision in this matter.

In the talk with Mr. Ben Gurion, Rabbi Nurk suggested that with regard to the present composition of the Government, there should be provisions that they should render National Service near their dwelling places so that they could return home in the evenings. Mr. Ben Gurion is understood to have expressed agreement in principle, but it was also proposed to send the girls to religious kibbutzim.

Calls on Shapira
Rabbi Nurk also called on Mr. Moshe Shapira, Minister for Religious Affairs.

Rabbi Nurk later told THE POST that his Party could not on moral grounds take the portfolio of Social Welfare entrusted by Rabbi Yitzhak Meir Levin, of Agudat Israel, because that would imply acceptance of the Aguda's defection from the Government. He added that the other possibility was the Religious Affairs Ministry, but this depended upon whether the incumbent, Mr. Moshe Shapira, of Hapoel Hamizrabi, would agree to surrender it.

It is understood that Mr. Ben Gurion will again confer on Wednesday with Rabbi Nurk, who will be joined by the other Mizrahi Knesset member, Dr. Y. A. Kanner.

The Progressive Party delegation to the Council of Ministers, led by the Prime Minister at 10:30 a.m. today in the latter's Jerusalem office.

Many speakers of the Progressive Party's Tel Aviv Council advocated a return to the Government at a meeting last night. Mr. P. Ben-Zur, M.K., and Mr. E. Harari, M.K., briefed the Council on the political situation. The meeting was held for an exchange of views and was not authorized to take any decisions.

Cabinet to Discuss Import Plan Today

The Cabinet is to hold an extraordinary session in Jerusalem today to continue its deliberations on the foreign currency exchange programme and particularly on the one-year import scheme.

It was not yet certain last night whether final decisions would be taken today, since it was indicated that the gap still existed between the 20m. demanded by the Ministry of Commerce and Industry for the import programme and the 25m. which are available according to the balanced estimates prepared by the Finance Ministry.

Following Sunday's meeting, at which discussions were initiated on the import plan, there were top-level talks on the difference in an attempt, on the one hand, to reduce the figure asked and, on the other, to "find" additional foreign currency.

The possible allocation of additional foreign currency for food imports would not entail curtailing other appropriations, since additional foreign currency could be obtained by raising the estimated total dollar income, it was reported.

Rosenbergs Doomed To Electric Chair

WASHINGTON, Monday (UP). — The Supreme Court today doomed Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, convicted atomic spies, to execution in the electric chair. The court rejected their appeals and that of their accomplice, Morton Sobell, who was sentenced to 30 years in prison.

Barred the unlikely possibility of last ditch reconsideration by courts or presidential intervention, the action leaves New York State free to carry out the death sentences against the Rosenbergs. They were convicted in the New York Federal District Court on March 29, 1951 on charges of violating the 1947 wartime espionage law by relaying atomic bomb secrets to a Russian spy ring which included the convicted British scientist Klaus Fuchs.

Old Problems Face U.N. At New Assembly Today

Palestine Question Not Likely To Figure Largely in Debates

POST Diplomatic Correspondent

It is understood that Israel's candidacy for one of the two elective vice-presidencies of the U.N. General Assembly will be strongly contested by Egypt, which is claiming the post for itself. There are seven vice-presidencies in all, five of which are held by the five big powers. The other two are elective.

Policy Consistent
The Israel attitude in the Assembly to the problem of Korea is expected to follow the line taken by this country two years ago, and to be more or less in agreement with those who claim that a cease-fire should precede armistice negotiations. On the subject of the charges made, on behalf of Tunisia and Morocco, against France, as on that of the charges of racial discrimination made against the Union of South Africa — if these two subjects should come to discussion at the Assembly — it is probable that the Israel delegation will approve seeking a juridical definition of the articles of the Charter under which the charges are both made and rejected.

There is no clear definition at present of what constitutes an "essentially domestic matter." Thus the right of the U.N. to interfere in the dispute between France and her North African territories, or in that between South Africa and certain South African communities, has not been established.

Asia Meeting Ends, Persia Foils Foreign
A-5-Power Parley Plotted, General Jailed
TOKYO, Monday (UP). — The Asian-Pacific Peace Conference ended its 11-day deliberations in Peking today with an attack on the U.N. and an appeal for a five-power conference to settle world problems, according to a Peking broadcast heard here.

In a long statement summarizing the conference decisions, the U.N. was accused of failing to fulfil the promise of its Charter "to save mankind from the scourge of war."

Mr. Fatemi added the plot was organized by two generals and some members of the Majlis. General Hajji, had been arrested along with three brothers, prominent merchants.

Khrushchev Attacks Muffling Of Criticism by Communists

LONDON, Monday (Reuters). — Mr. Nikita Khrushchev, member of the Politburo, addressing the Communist Party Congress in Moscow on Friday, dealt with frustration of the criticism — especially from below. A full report of his speech was broadcast by Moscow Radio today.

"The strength of our Party," he said, "is that it is not afraid of criticism. Some organizations will understand the importance of criticism."

Two often criticism is stubbornly opposed. There have been cases when honest people, good workers, have been moved only because they exposed shortcomings; when comrades who expressed correct and perfectly justified criticism have been compelled by means of threats to withdraw their criticism."

Mr. Khrushchev said Party leaders in the Soviet region who had been guilty of such crimes had been expelled from the Party and "brought to justice before the courts."

Must Report Errors
The new Party statute, he said, would make it clear that Party members have not only the right but also the absolute duty to report all deficiencies to higher organs. The statute would add that all those opposing criticism "must be severely punished as violators of Party discipline."

"The hushing up of these deficiencies is a disease which must be cured," he said.

Mr. Khrushchev, who is a secretary of the Central Committee of the Communist Party, said that he was a Party member who had been guilty of such crimes had been expelled from the Party and "brought to justice before the courts."

UNITED NATIONS, Monday. — The new "Workshop of Peace"—a sweeping ground-hugging building with a dome rising from the centre — will become the diplomatic centre of the world tomorrow when the U.N. General Assembly opens its seventh session.

Almost 1,000 men and women from all over the world, including clerical help, have been accredited to the first assembly in the newly-opened building which features two gigantic non-objective murals — one resembling an amoeba and the other a three-eared rabbit.

23 Foreign Ministers

Twenty-three Foreign Ministers are accredited to this Assembly. Two of them, notably Britain's Mr. Anthony Eden and France's Mr. Robert Schuman, will wait until the furor of the presidential elections subsides before coming, but the stars of the show, Mr. Dean Acheson and Mr. Andrei Vyshinsky, are arriving today. Also arriving will be 72 other members of the Soviet Delegation, including the famed Mr. Andrei Gromyko. Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit of India is also due, and is expected to lead the Asian Arab bloc's fight against discriminatory legislation in South Africa.

The building will be new but the problems old. The U.S.S.R. is expected to bring up the action of the Communist Chinese delegation which is also on the 75-item agenda which also includes one item from proposed by France — the adoption of an official citation reading "Died in the service of the U.N."

PEARSON CONFERS

UNITED NATIONS, Monday (UP). — Canadian External Affairs Minister Lester Pearson, scheduled to be elected tomorrow as President of the Assembly, today plunged into a series of conferences with key U.N. delegates in regard to the organization of the assembly.

He talked with France's chief delegate, M. Henri Hoppenot, concerning the French contention that her dispute with Tunisia and Morocco should not be placed on the agenda. He also saw Australian External Affairs Minister Richard Richard, whose country has threatened to quit the U.N. if the latter acts on Arab and Asian charges that South Africa's racial policies are a threat to peace. Mr. Pearson also planned to see the U.S. representative, Mr. Ernest Gruening, concerning Korea.

Speaking to reporters at the Canadian delegation's H.Q. at the Ritz Hotel today, Mr. Pearson said Canada squarely supported the stand taken by U.N. negotiators in Korea that no prisoners should be forcibly repatriated.

ERAN IN U.S.

WASHINGTON, Monday (UP). — The Israel Embassy announced today that Ambassador Abner Eliazar had returned from Israel after several weeks of consultations in connection with the Assembly.

Mr. Eliazar, who is a member of the Knesset, is expected to return to Israel after several weeks of consultations in connection with the Assembly.

Elath Chapter Is WIZO's Hundredth

By Mrs. Rebecca Sieff,
President World Wise

THE founding of Elath yesterday of WIZO's 100th Group is an occasion for rejoicing for the Israel Federation of the Women's International Zionist Organization. This joy will be shared by the tens of thousands of women organized in WIZO all over the world.

The forerunner of the Israel Federation was a small group then called the Histradrut Nashim Irit which was founded by Reizel Kohn and headed by the late Henrietta Kohn. Its primary purpose was to aid ex-patriate mothers and newly-born infants. This organization ultimately developed into the main Israeli Federation of Women in the up-building of the nation. With the inspiration and guidance of its then President, the late Esther Smolnik, it became affiliated to the World WIZO in 1921; and the Histradrut Nashim Irit became its Israeli Federation.

This Federation's functions were not and are not entirely identical with those of WIZO federations overseas. In addition to the duties and obligations of other federations, the Israeli Federation has the additional responsibility of initiating and supervising numerous institutions and services all over the country.

Especially during this period of Elath's great importance in helping women from Western Europe to find the possibility of continuing their active WIZO life. For not only were they themselves the recipients of this help, but they were soon in their turn able to render similar services to others.

Institutions and Services
To give some concrete figures, WIZO's institutions and network of services comprise 170 baby homes, day creches, kindergartens, toddlers, homes, playgrounds and clubs, serving about 8,000 children.

The second great branch of WIZO's activities consists of services for women in town, village and suburb, especially assisting the housewife and the middle-aged woman immigrant through its training departments and advice bureau. To give some examples, the WIZO shops which developed as a consequence; the restaurants which serve a wide public; workrooms in different parts of the country, especially in the new settlements; instruction courses of all kinds etc.

Adapted Activities
Our Organization has done its utmost to adapt all these educational and cultural activities to the different standards and mentalities of groups of "colours" coming from all quarters of the globe. It began in this spirit, being the first organization to take an interest in the Yemenite Jewess, woman and girl, 30 years ago. This aspect of its activities has, inevitably, been greatly intensified in recent years, and it is clear that it must do a great deal more in this direction. In this way it can help in the solution of the great and difficult problems facing the country today. This kind of social work is vital in the process of integration and absorption. Indeed there can be no integration without the education of woman.

That Elath should have been the place in which our 100th branch has been established is naturally a spur and encouragement to our Organization to intensify its activities. The achievement of our Israel Federation is all the greater since it is voluntary and non-party in a community where political party principles are held with such tenacity and fought for with a fervor amounting to religious fanaticism. It therefore, has to stand on its own feet since it has neither financial backing nor moral support from any specific group or party.

At the World WIZO Conference I stated that in my view there were tasks ahead for our Israel Federation exceeding in importance and more vital even than those already undertaken. I know that it is widely felt throughout the country that it is our urgent necessity to revive and invoke a new and fresh spirit of citizenship.

In my view WIZO as a non-party national voluntary social welfare organization is best placed to undertake a campaign for this purpose. I believe that under our programme many women who have hitherto stood aside will come within the framework of our Israel Federation in helping us on our road to our second hundredth group.

Persia to Stress Ties with East

TEHRAN, Monday (Reuters).—Foreign Minister Hossein Fardoust yesterday said that Persia would stress her senior diplomatic ties to Asian countries in preference to European countries. He also announced that the Persian Charge d'Affaires in Pakistan, the Consul-General in Geneva and the Ambassador in Iraq (who is now in Tehran) were being recalled.

Fardoust also said he is instructing Persian Embassies to give more attention to the press abroad and to make the press attitude toward Persia the first item in each bi-weekly report.

Later he said he told "certain authorities" to inform the authorities in the countries in which they are serving that Persia would retaliate for publication of material showing lack of respect for and lowering the prestige of Persia. He said he had observed that the press of certain European countries had taken an attitude towards Persia more unfair and extreme than the British press, showing a one-sided approach and intentional malice.

Jerusalem Pencils In U.S. Chain Stores

Jerusalem POST Reporter.—For the first time, Israeli-made mass-produced goods are on sale in American chain stores, through the initiative of Jerusalem Industrial Ltd., whose original novelty line of pens, pencils and pens, has been displayed in the U.S. were displayed to the press yesterday. Capacity of this up-to-date plant within the Jerusalem Industrial Centre is about 150,000 pencils in an eight-hour shift, but with completion of their second factory nearby, production can be tripled.

A $300,000 loan from the American partners had enabled the plant to begin work; in two months, 50,000 novelty pens—tipped with plastic whistles and pencils made by a sister-company in Bnei Brak, were ordered for America, and a larger consignment will be shipped to Canada.

Government Order
The Government has ordered the firm to produce 500,000 gross pencils for school-children, of good quality, by January 1, 1959. The firm has been actually producing Red-Tips and export programmes. Dr. A. Weizman, Minister of Education, has ordered for Finland were sent and waiting for the export-licence to be granted.

"We are experimenting with locally-made glue, paint and varnish to cut down the cost of foreign currency," said the technical manager, Mr. Shapiro, who also teaches English, French, Hebrew and Latin, which would be a main item of expenditure.
